Why we should help the sick and elderly

Many sick and elderly people live in nursing homes and no one really visits them at all. Sometimes these people are forgotten. When we visit them, it is a great way to bring them joy. Being a Christian means to help those people who cannot help themselves. Some ways you can help is to go Christmas caroling at a nursing home. This would really help brighten their mood. Other ways to make them happy are to bring them flowers, visit them, and invite some of my friends to a party with the elderly people. All of these would give them a big smile. When I am sick I don't get to see anyone, I don't get to play games, I don't even get to play with my friends. People who are sick and elderly feel this way every day. That's why we should help the sick and elderly.
